Thomas Murray Securities Market Information

The Thomas Murray Securities Market Information (SMI) is a guide to local market rules, regulations, systems and procedures involved in the life cycle of a securities transaction from trading to clearing and settlement, custody and asset servicing arrangements. Information and market changes are constantly monitored, supported by intraday newflashes covering over 100 markets globally.

A team of analysts collates and analyses market changes from over 250 sources worldwide which are then distributed to subscribers on the principles of accuracy and timeliness through our newflashes issued via email. Thomas Murray updates its Securities Market Information to reflect all on-going changes, including those notified intraday. A list of markets covered is available on request.
